Returning to talk at Stanford after two years, John Thompson, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of Symantec Corporation, talks about the changes in the technology sector and the enterprise software space.

Transcript

Well, I am truly delighted to be back.. It's been about two years since I was last here and I think it would be imminently fair to say that much has changed in the last two years, certainly in the technology sector in general and in our little business at Symantec in particular.. So what I thought I'd do is try to frame for you what might we have learned over the course of the last two years about technology in general, particularly around enterprise software and what might that portend for those of us who play in this space and for those of us who perhaps have a curiosity or an interest about the space itself...
