

URL: <https://stvp.stanford.edu/clips/igniting-the-foundry-industry>

In conversation with Stanford University President John Hennessy, TSMC Founding Chairman Morris Chang talks about the rapid increase in fabless semiconductor companies after the creation of his revolutionary chip-making plant. Chang also discusses how TSMC showed competitors in Taiwan how to be a world-class company.

Transcript

English subtitles are not available for this media..