

URL: <https://stvp.stanford.edu/blog/videos/life-outside-of-work>

Verma warns not to forget about friends and family. A new venture will consume your life, he says, but you must be able to walk away from it when you go home at the end of the day.

Transcript

This is one that I think all of us forget.. Don't neglect your friends and family or they'll forget about you right when you need them most or right when you want to share something with them.. It's not easy but you got to take time.. You can't let work consume you.. I mean, in the end work will consume you.. If this is what you guys want to do, if you want to be an entrepreneur, if you want to go build something from scratch, the amount of work required is unbelievable.. But you just got to put it in perspective and you got to be able to walk away when you go home.. And if you don't, you just want to have the staying power...