

URL: <https://stvp.stanford.edu/blog/videos/responsible-engineering-in-the-modern-age-entire-talk>

Whereas the 20th century belonged to the scientist, the 21st century, says Sun Microsystems' CTO Greg Papadopoulos, is the domain of the engineer. Rather than secretly toiling away on new discoveries, modern engineers are concerned about social responsibility, renewable materials and product lifecycles, collaborative and open source discovery, and furthering industry-wide innovation.

Transcript

English subtitles are not available for this media..