

URL: <https://stvp.stanford.edu/blog/videos/teams-teamwork-and-tough-love>

Though individual excellence abounds, teamwork is really what makes people and businesses successful. Most innovation is actually done in groups in which people can assume different roles and play off each others ideas. Gary relates some of his favorite motivational lessons he received as a child, including the difference between you and genius is about 8 hours of hard work.

Transcript

English subtitles are not available for this media..