

URL: <https://stvp.stanford.edu/blog/videos/the-numbers-matter>

Lisa Lambert, vice president and managing director of Intel Capital, shares statistics on women-led businesses and venture capital investment in that space. Lambert also discusses a nonprofit she founded that aims to accelerate women-executives' careers, and recounts her own career in tech, from early days as an engineer to her current role directing the investment arm of Intel Corp.

Transcript

English subtitles are not available for this media..